Description

Tribulus Terrestris capsules contain an extract from the Tribulus Terrestris plant which grows primarily in India. Tribulus contains a range of phytochemicals, mostly saponins. Saponins are plant steroid glycosides which contain a nitrogen element.

Saponins can have different effects on the body, depending on the origin of the saponin. Therefore it is important to not only know the saponin content of the product but also the origin of the plant. Our extract is made from Indian plants which customers have reported has the best effect
